Snow Drifts by DELPHINE CARPENTER

Talking with Ralph Jackson, (who used to live and ski in New England), yesterday. Al Sise and his wife joined us. Al is now with MIT and living in Wellesley, Mass. There are those who recall the days when Al championed snow shoes over skis, but seeing him make five runs down the mountain on his first day in Aspen anyone would know he'd taken to skis in style. . . . Have you heard of the scientific tests made recently in the East? Seems that some of the streams have been analyzed there and it was found that they were 98% tears. . . . Terrible shock it was to hear someone refer to Alexander H. Bright as "Grandpa." 'Taint so, and 'taint fair. It dates too many of us. News is that Alex will be visiting the West next month. . . . Jack and Gina Davidson of the Ski Club of Washington, D. C. are taking their ski vacation in the West, too, concentrating on Colorado and California. They are due in Aspen March 16. . . .
