Climbing Mooshaube on Sunday, a party of twenty members of the Ski Club Hohegebirge and their friends, including three women, found good going. Some, including Charles Proctor, who skied on the mountain Saturday reported excellent conditions, with dry powder snow, but rain Saturday night made a light, breakable crust which had to be worn down. Dear Puss -

My attention has been called to the enclosed publicity and the resulting deformation of the good name of our club. I do not mean to advertise the fact that you took along these women and found good going. I suppose this is realism for the day at home.
